

Johnson University
Presents

“Navigating Sexual and Religious Identity
Conflicts in Clinical Practice:
Ethical and Professional Practice Considerations” with

Mark Yarhouse, Licensed Psychologist

(6 CEs available approved by NBCC, www.nbcc.org, includes ethics)

Participants will be able to:

1. Apply and develop competence in helping clients to navigate sexual and religious identity conflicts in a client-centered manner.
2. Apply knowledge of professional, legal and ethical issues in working with sexual minority persons of faith.
3. Assess and synthesize effectiveness in comparing and contrasting applications of narrative approaches to sexual identity in clinical practice.

Friday, January 25, 2019

9:00am – 4:00pm (registration includes lunch)

Location: Gally Commons Private Dining Rooms
Johnson University
7900 Johnson Drive
Knoxville, Tennessee 37998

Cost: Graduate Students: $30, Early Bird Professional Rate: $75 (ends Jan 7th), Standard Professional Rate: $90

To Register Visit: <https://www.johnsonu.edu/Tennessee/News-Events/Sexual-Identity-Therapy-Training>

ACEP Administrator for Johnson University: Emily Eisenhart, EEisenhart@JohnsonU.edu
*Johnson University has been approved by NBCC as an Approved Continuing Education Provider, #3051. Programs that do not qualify for NBCC credit are clearly identified.
Johnson University is solely responsible for all aspects of this program.*